Replacement Tank Capacity - 202 Litre
Original Tank Capacity – 98 Litre

With a new V8 5.7lt Hemi and an impressive tow capacity Ram's new ute is sure to be a hit with all those looking for a workhorse that sounds great. Combine the new power plant with an impressive GCM and you have a formidable tow truck.

Let's face it, you didn't buy this truck for its frugal fuel usage and your mates with their 4cyl diesel's won't let you come away with them unless you carry a 44 gal drum in the back for extra fuel!

The LONGRANGER'S replacement TR82 tank with its massive 202 litre capacity has come to the rescue and more than doubles the 98 litres you can fit in the factory tank. Which means that heavy right foot you can't help using to play those sweet sounding notes won't have you searching for fuel every 400K's. With the main body of the TR82 only about 25mm lower than the OEM plastic tank, the effect on overall ramp over clearance is kept to a minimum. On the open road the TR82 is capable of a 1655km range (12.2L/100km according to ASV Aust) making it the ideal touring accessory for your Ram Hemi V8. This tank has been design with the popular modification of a twin exhaust system in mind so compatibility with other accessories is a key feature when setting up your vehicle.
